

PITCH DECK

CAMPBELL'S

Campbell's Soup, founded in 1869, is one of America's most iconic food brands known for its condensed soups and instantly recognizable red and white label. Over the years, the company has expanded beyond soup, now owning brands like Pepperidge Farm, Prego, and V8. While Campbell's has a loyal, multigenerational customer base and strong brand recognition, it faces challenges as consumers shift toward fresh and health-conscious foods. To adapt, the company has focused on reducing sodium, promoting sustainability, and connecting with younger audiences through nostalgia-driven marketing and modern digital campaigns. Overall, Campbell's success lies in balancing tradition and trust with innovation and relevance.

Mission: Our mission is to help Campbell's remind consumers that soup makes sense because it is affordable, easy, and comforting. We want to reestablish Campbell's as the go-to mealtime solution by highlighting its convenience, value, and timeless appeal.

Vision: Our vision is to position Campbell's as a brand that fits naturally into modern life, showing that a simple bowl of soup can be both practical and satisfying for every generation.

STRENGTHS

- Brand Recognition
- Trustworthiness
- Large Market Share

OPPORTUNITIES

- Consumer's who want ready to eat meals
- Affordability a need during an economic downturn

WEAKNESSES

- Dietary trend shifts toward health and nutrition
- Category perception of soup being associated with older consumers

THREATS

- Competitors are seen as “healthy option”
- Ongoing lawsuits from environmental cases

CREATIVE STRATEGY

WHAT IS OUR MESSAGE?

Our campaign is focused on showing consumers that Campbell's soup is a reliable choice because it is affordable, easy to make, and genuinely delicious. We want to highlight the idea that a warm, satisfying meal does not have to cost a lot of money or take much time to prepare. By reinforcing that soup is a practical choice that fits into busy, everyday life, we want our consumers to feel confident that Campbell's is the right option when they need something quick, warm, and reliable. Overall, our message encourages people to think, “Why overcomplicate meals when soup just makes sense?”

WHO IS THE TARGET AUDIENCE FOR THESE MESSAGES?

The messaging applies to all ages, but the campaign will have specific emphasis on younger consumers (young adults, college students, recent high school/college grads) getting their start in the world, who find convenience and affordability particularly appealing.

THE BIG IDEA

SOUP MAKES SENSE.

In a world where everything is expensive and life is busy, Campbell's soup is always there for you.

We want to remind people that sometimes the simplest option is the best one. At its core, our message is that when life gets busy or overwhelming, soup just makes sense. Campbell's has a history of being a stable, reliable brand for affordability and convenience throughout the years.

They have remained a classic staple over time.

PRINT AD 1

The only dish you'll need to wash
tonight.

Soup Makes Sense.
Campbell's

PRINT AD 2

Candles are for smelling, not eating.
Campbell's is for both.

Scent's
Soup Makes Sense.
Campbell's

PRINT AD 3

Dinner?

Is ready.

Soup Makes Sense.
Campbell's

PRINT AD 4

How will you spend your $7?

One latte, three meals.

Same $7.

Soup Makes Sense.

Campbell's

STORYBOARD

STORYBOARD

CONCLUSION

In the end, our campaign brings Campbell's back to what has always made it special: warmth, simplicity, and comfort. Soup Makes Sense reminds consumers that even in a fast-paced and expensive world, Campbell's is still a reliable, affordable, and delicious choice. By connecting nostalgia with modern life, we show that Campbell's continues to be the go-to mealtime solution for every generation.

THANK YOU FOR LISTENING